Seminar on Agriculture Diversification and Vulnerability of Climate Change for Sustainable Food Security and Livelihoods in North-Western Himalayas

The Department of Economics of Akal College of Economics, Commerce and Management, Eternal University, Baru Sahib and Himachal Pradesh Crop Diversification Promotion (HPCDP-JICA-ODA) Project, Hamirpur jointly organized two days seminar sponsored by ICSSR, North-West Regional Centre, Chandigarh on Agriculture Diversification and Vulnerability of Climate Change for Sustainable Food Security and Livelihoods in North-Western Himalayas on 25-26th March, 2019. In all, 13 research papers and 2 progressive farmer's success stories were presented and thoroughly discussed during different technical sessions. During the seminar three local progressive farmers namely, Sh. Nagender Thakur, Surinder Singh and Vimal were honoured for their contribution in the diversification of agriculture. The seminar was focused mainly on diversification of crops with high nutritional values; the impact of different levels of crop diversification on cropping pattern, income and employment generation; the current status of agriculture diversification and problems and prospects of crop diversification in horticulture farming of H.P. The policy implications included urgent need to address nutritional security along with food security, the conservation of biodiversity, practicing agriculture diversification with high value vegetable crops, allocation of public funds towards agricultural marketing infrastructure & promotion of small and medium level enterprises, area specific suitable water application techniques & conservation of resources and authentication of area under horticulture crops in the context of climate change. It was valuable event for the students to understand the impact of climate change on agriculture.

Applications

- Cosmetics and personal care: Determine appearance, chemical & physical properties, usage and storage conditions. From soaps changed to nonionic surfactants-less toxic.
- Washing and cleaning agents: Detergent is a mixture of compounds intended to assist in cleaning. The term is often used to differentiate between soap and other chemical surfactants used for cleaning purposes.
- Corrosion inhibitors: Surfactants have been commonly used as corrosion inhibitors for the protection of metallic materials against corrosion.
- Paint and emulsion: Surfactants in paint are used to change nature and properties of dried paint and emulsify paints in their liquid state.
- Dyeing and textile: Surfactants act as lubricants & softeners. Dyeing, and finishing processes are used by most of the surfactants in the textile industry. They act as wetting agents, dyeing agents & as penetrates.

CONCLUSION

- Mn_2O_3 NPs have successfully synthesized by co-precipitation technique.
- XRD spectrum has confirmed the formation of single phase pure tetragonal structure of Mn_2O_3 NPs with the crystalline size of 18.79 nm.
- FE-SEM has shown that homogeneous NPs get formed.
- HR-TEM analysis confirmed that most of the Mn_2O_3 NPs have formed with spherical and square shape with the average particle size of 21.37 nm.
- The synthesized NPs have been successfully employed for the removal of the two synthetic toxic dyes like Eriochrome black T (EBT) and Alkali blue (AB) in aqueous solution via adsorption process.
- Adsorption capacity for AB & EBT was calculated, 111.11 mg/g and 37.99 mg/g.
- The pseudo-second-order kinetics model could be a best fit model for adsorption of both dyes on NPs and adsorption process is followed by chemisorption via electrostatic attraction.
- The results have indicated that Langmuir isotherm was showing more fitting for adsorption data.

Session Processed –Today, BS.c nursing 2nd year students were participated in a mentor-mentee session. There were a total of 20 students. I had given an overview of the session, including the goal and purpose of the mentor and mentee session. I introduced myself and explained the situation to the students. I encouraged the pupils to look at their academic and personnel difficulties and encouraged them to discuss the both. The majority of students are more motivated and enthusiastic about their performance in final exams , but students have encountered certain difficulties that I have listed below.

- 1. They have not gotten the students ID .

Rectification – I have explained them the messages will be circulated to concerned authority and you will get it soon.

- 2. They have not the community posting uniform.

Rectification- I explained, at moment it is not needed. You will need it in the fourth year.

- 3. They have faced the some problems in re-demonstration this year, it was not taken from every one, so they are not much confident once they will not performed in front of teachers.

Rectification- I suggested them that I will convey the message to Principal, at least given them half day on every Saturday for practicing, demonstration, re-demonstration once a week.
